

I deployed my resource in the South Africa North region to ensure low-latency. The Virtual Machine was deployed under an Infrastructure as a Service (IaaS) Shared Responsibility Model where the cloud provider manages the physical datacenter infrastructure which includes the processor, storage and networking while I am fully responsible for access, application, data, runtime, middleware and the operating system.